INTRODUCTION

After the General Elections on June 7th 2015, Peoples' Democratic Party (Halkların Demokratik Partisi or HDP) became one of the most significant political actors in Turkey. In particular, Kurds, socialists, Alawites, Non-Muslim groups, democratic conservatives, social democrats, ecologists and other historically marginalized or oppressed identities in Turkey have supported the HDP in the search for expanded collective rights in Turkey's political and judiciary system.

The HDP's electoral success, with more than 6 million votes, provided a great opportunity for a democratic solution to the Kurdish Issue. At the same time, the AKP was denied the opportunity to establish a one-party government, prompting the question of a coalition government. Yet the President of the Republic, Recep Tayyip Erdogan, pushed his political party, the AKP, to reject any coalition in order to bring about a new election with the hope that his party might achieve an absolute majority, thus extending his presidency's authority. President Erdogan was thereby able to prevent the HDP's progress and derail the negotiation process between PKK leader Abdullah Ocalan and the Turkish State.

That President Erdogan changed the direction of Turkey from peace and stability to tension and violence has been made especially clear by the bombing attack against socialist and Kurdish youth in Suruc near Kobani, which resulted in 33 deaths—an event that can be seen as the starting point of a spiral of conflict in Turkey. The AKP and the President's monist and authoritarian strategies for extending domination is behind today's deep polarization and conflicts.

Dolmabahçe Declaration (27 February 2015), The Suruç Massacre (20 July 2015),
The Escalation of Violence and the deadlock on the path to the peace negotiations

As a historic chance for a meaningful democratic solution to the Kurdish Issue through strengthening democracy in Turkey, the declaration calls for a two-sided negotiation on basic issues in line with basic democratic principles. The declaration's 10 articles are:

- 1- Democratic politics, definition and content
- 2- A democratic resolution and recognition of the national and local dimensions of resolution
- 3- The legal and democratic guarantee of free citizenship
- 4- The relationship of democratic politics to state and society and its institutionalization
- 5- The socio-economic dimensions of the resolution process
- 6- Treating the relationship between democracy and security in the process in a way that will protect public order and freedoms
- 7- Legal solutions and guarantees for problems of women, culture and ecology
- 8- Development of a pluralistic understanding of the concept of identity, its definition and recognition
- 9- The recognition of a democratic republic, a common homeland and people with a democratic criteria within a pluralist democratic system with legal and constitutional guarantees
- 10- A new constitution designed for democratic transformation

The declaration was presented to the media by the two sides involved. Both sides agreed to begin negotiations in the prison on Imrali Island with the participation of Abdullah Ocalan and a monitoring group nominated by Erdogan and Ocalan. Just before the elections President Erdogan rejected the entirety of the declaration and the dialogue process. The last meeting with Ocalan was on April 5th 2015. There has since been no contact with Ocalan. The isolation of Ocalan is one of the most important reasons behind the rising tensions in Turkey.

The Suruc Massacre on July 20th 2015 was carried out by an ISIL member from Turkey. There is no shortage of evidence of Turkey's responsibility in the explosion. Followed by Turkish Intelligence, the ISIL terrorist was allowed to move freely throughout Turkey and cross the border from Syria to Turkey.

The Suruc Massacre is seen by many as the first sign of rising tension. President Erdogan and Prime Minister Davutoglu's callous approach to the tragedy in Suruc and their aggressive stance towards Syrian Kurds in Rojava have incited a growing distrust of the state.

Turkish police raids against HDP politicians and supporters, meanwhile, have not ceased following the elections. Police raids have become routine, in an attempt to criminalize the movement.

PRESS FREEDOM AND CENSORSHIP

Turkey, with its long history of silencing opposition, curtailing press freedom, and imprisoning journalists, has taken disregard for media freedom to a new level as the peace process has ground to a halt and the AKP provisional government has increasingly adopted authoritarian policies and a language of racist and violent politics. The AKP has utilized the extremely vague wording of the newly passed internal-security legislation to silence all forms of opposition. Consequently, the number of violations of freedom of information—including arbitrarily jailing foreign journalists, censoring and limiting access to social media including Twitter, Facebook and Youtube, preventing independent observation of violations of rights, and promoting direct violent attacks on news channels, newspapers and individual journalists—has soared.

Turkey ranks, in 2015, 149th among 180 countries in the World Press Freedom Index, and is at the top of the list of countries with 72 percent of requests to censor tweets and access to Twitter accounts. Academics, journalists, and individuals using social media to express opposing views regularly face arbitrary charges and years in prison under the new legislation.

The recent wave of arrested journalists includes Jake Hanrahan and Philip Pendlebury from the UK-based Vice News and Dutch freelance journalist Frederike Geerdink, all accused of aiding illegal organizations and promoting pro-Kurdish propaganda. All were subsequently released and extradited to their countries in an attempt to intimidate and censor any international coverage of developments in the region. The AKP administration makes every possible effort to prevent documentation and news flow from the region, particularly from Kurdish towns, to reach the international community, as the toll of dead and wounded mounts and fears of increasing civilian casualties grow.

The Presidency of Telecommunications has been granted wide ranging powers to monitor and close websites without court order, within the framework of internal-security legislation that paved the way for the closure of thousands of websites critical of the AKP administration and/or considered pro-Kurdish. For instance, the website of Dicle News Agency—regularly reporting from conflict zones with reporters (considered pro-Kurdish by the AKP administration)—has been closed 14 times within one week.

The AKP administration’s fear and hatred of free media peaked as the families of soldiers raised their voices against the AKP administration—including President Erdogan and Prime Minister Davutoglu—appearing at the funerals of soldiers in an effort to drive the country toward war. The Presidential Office directly intervenes and administers the type of news to be serviced by all TV channels and newspapers. Media sources critical of the administration have become direct targets of the AKP administration and violent attacks. Recently, a pro-AKP crowd, headed by an AKP-elected member of parliament, attacked the offices of the Hurriyet newspaper, smashing windows and threatening to burn their offices while journalists were inside, on the accusation that they had misquoted President Erdogan in a TV interview.

They forcefully entered the building by breaking down the door. After physically attacking the women administrators, they tore up, destroyed, and threw official documents, computers, tvs and similar furniture out the window. While they were burning these documents and furniture downstairs, they also physically assaulted our MP candidate Bedri Arık who was informed and called to the scene by Ayşe Işık. After the assaults, the criminal complaints were made to the Balikesir Anafartalar police station and reports assessing the damage were made. The attacks and assaults presumably took place because of the death of a soldier who was registered in Balikesir. The assailants continued to demonstrate within the city from approximately 4-5pm until approximately 6-7pm with chants such as "Damn the Kurds! Damn the HDP!". The assaulted administrators were admitted to hospital and later discharged.

There is no executive provincial branch in Maraş at present but there are congressional works. The party sign was removed by the assailants, and later that night a long convoy of cars was formed which passed through Kurdish neighborhoods chanting slogans. There have been threatening and hateful messages and comments on the provincial branch's website since then.

8- September 7th 2015, ESKİSEHIR- Between 08.30-09.00am, a group of 15-20 people gathered in front of the Eskişehir provincial branch building and chanted with police present. This group entered the apartment building where the provincial branch is located on the 7th floor together with two police officers. The group destroyed the steel door of the party office, entered through the hole they created, and destroyed all the furniture inside. They smashed the windows and threw out the cupboards. They attempted to burn the party flags. They left the building, leaving the gas tank on. A major disaster was prevented since there was no natural gas and the windows were broken which prevented any gas accumulation inside. When the group left the building the police began a siege because of which provincial branch executives couldn't enter. When the executives managed to enter the party office they gave a press statement and filed a criminal complaint with lawyers against the assailants as well as the involved police officers at the prosecution office.

Some entered through the roof and by breaking down the steel door, and threw almost all of the furniture from the 4th floor window and burned them downstairs. Following that, fire broke out on the roof and it was extinguished hours later. The group's car convoy continued to create tension on the streets of Isparta all night long.

11- September 7th 2015, ISPARTA- The situation is dire. Around 11:00pm last night a group of around 2000 people accompanied by the police were mobilized and attacked our Provincial offices. Members of the group took down the party's sign, broke into the building, and set the building on fire. The damages are substantial. Moreover, it has been observed that tensions are still high and that a new attack is planned.

12- September 7th 2015, ISTANBUL (USKUDAR)- On the evening of September 7th, 2015, around 9:50pm, a group of aggressors entered the street where our District organization is located in an attempt to make its way into the building. A lawyer associate responsible for this district has been contacted in order to file a criminal complaint. Because the party’s branch is located on the second floor, a group has entered the offices using a crane-like vehicle. The building has incurred material damage. There is no confirmation so far that a criminal complaint has been filed. There are no security cameras.

The assailants were unable to enter the building, but they stabbed two pro-HDP civilians, who were seriously wounded, along with Osman Bestas. The crowd, without any resistance from police forces, blocked the main streets of Nigde city and began marching towards the building containing HDP Nigde provincial office. The crowd began intensive stoning of the party office in the front and back of the building. Law enforcement gave a late and inadequate response. Law enforcement's late and inadequate response encouraged the crowd and many entered the building's second floor and began destroying all the furniture inside including TVs, computers, cameras and many others. Items were thrown out of the building. HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS AND ANTI-DEMOCRATIC MEASURES

As the conflict and clashes intensifies in Turkey, the AKP administration resorts to every means possible, including legislative and non-legislative, in order to crack down all forms of political opposition, public protest and critical media. Implementation of anti-democratic measures and human rights violations such as detentions and arrests mostly based on allegations of insulting the state president or being critical of the AKP administration, torture and ill-treatment under custody, excessive, abusive, arbitrary and unlawful use of force against civilians, extra-judicial killings, house raids and an increasing number of hate crimes directly propagated by the AKP, curtailing of freedom of information, freedom of speech and free press have been mounting.

The government of Turkey has violated almost all of international law that it has signed committing serious crimes against humanity and war crimes. A number of major human rights organizations have expressed fears of escalation of violation of basic rights from bombing and killing of civilians to the abuse of prisoners.

Following the bomb attacks that killed 33 Kurdish and Turkish activists on July 20 in Suruc, the Turkish government launched a country-wide so-called “anti-terror” campaign in which more than 1000 people were arrested, mostly activists from the HDP and civil society organizations.

In an effort to silence dissent, the AKP administration has blocked dozens of websites and twitter accounts as part of the ongoing clampdown operation against free speech online. Arresting national and foreign journalists based on allegations of support for “illegal organizations”. Lastly, violent attacks against headquarters of Hurriyet daily newspaper by a group of people was directly propagated by an elected member of parliament from the AKP. Restrictions on protests and right to assembly and excessive use of force by police and security forces against protesters have become part of daily routine.

In Kurdish towns where clashes have been taking place serious reports of human rights violations, extra-judicial killings, prevention of access to basic necessities such as water, health services have been reported. Independent observers and journalists are prevented from entering towns such as Cizre, Silopi, Cizre and Yuksekova to document these violations. Special security forces and snipers have been targeting civilians and especially children incurring serious injuries and preventing access to hospital and health services. As reported by the Turkish Medical Association, regulations to protect civilian access to health services at times of armed-conflict are being violated on a regular basis by state security forces, causing loss of life due lack of access to treatment. According to international law, these are evident war crimes.

CIZRE UNDER SIEGE

The curfew declared in Cizre by the Governor's office on September 4th, 2015 has been in effect for six days. During this period news media have reported various incidents. Turkish armed forces have raided neighborhoods with armored vehicles and opened fire on civilians in streets. There have been long power outages, mobile network and landline cutoffs. Seven elected deputies, who went to the city in order to make observations and prevent a massacre, were denied access, insulted and assaulted by the police and military forces.

Video: www.youtube.com/watch?v=s1Wz4w49Kp4

After long negotiations and onerous efforts, HDP deputies gained access to the city where they observed a complete blockade: all public institutions were shut down; electricity, running water, internet connections and landlines were cut off; even pharmacies and bakeries were closed. The district Governor's office was turned into a police base and the district Governor was not present in the office. Deputies also observed that health-care personnel in Cizre Public Hospital either left the city out of fear for their lives or could not go to the hospital because of the ongoing clashes. The hospital was emptied and there was only one MD present at the time of the deputies' visit. Over 70 dialysis patients in town were facing serious health-risks as the curfew impedes their access to the hospital. It should also be noted that two citizens who got injured in clashes lost their lives because it took two hours for the ambulance to show up. As of September 9th, ten civilians were killed, dozens were injured and two had suffered heart attacks. Because of the curfew, dead bodies of three citizens (two of whom are children) were being held in neighborhood mosques for days. The body of Cemile Cagirga, who was shot dead in front of her house was kept in a deep freezer by her family for a day in order to prevent her body from decay as they waited for the curfew to be lifted.

Although the Minister of EU Affairs Ali Haydar Konca and HDP deputies negotiated with and convinced the Governor and Turkish armed forces to transfer the bodies to the morgue, the armed forces nevertheless fired bullets and gas capsules on civilians and deputies during the transfers. As the attacks escalated, armed forces started threatening all citizens of the town through public announcements such as “We will shoot anyone who steps out into the streets.” As a result of attacks many houses were destroyed and walls of some houses were demolished by armored vehicles.

Due to the curfew, which started six days ago, all shops and businesses in town are closed and bread, milk, baby food, and dry food supplies at homes are running short. The complete blockade on the town and the restrictions on communication ignite fear of massacre among the public. In order to protest the suspension of constitutional rights and be in solidarity with people of Cizre, a delegation composed of HDP co-chair Selahattin Demirtas, deputies, and party officials left for Cizre on September 9, 2015. Accompanied by thousands of citizens from surrounding towns and cities in the region, the delegation’s vehicles were stopped at a checkpoint on the highway, 90 km away from Cizre, and they are currently continuing their walk to Cizre through mountain paths.

These human rights violations are not unique to Cizre. Over the past month, the provinces of Lice, Silvan, Silopi and Yuksekova in the Kurdish region have all been declared as "special security zones" by the state-appointed governors for a period of time. The people residing in these security zones were prohibited from going outside and special warfare methods were implemented in these areas with blockades. As a result of these operations, dozens of civilians have lost their lives or were injured; dozens of homes, businesses and vehicles were ruined.

Children are sheltering in bottom floors of the buildings in Cizre.

Brief additional note on Cizre Siege:

On September 9, Co-chair of HDP Mr.Selahattin Demirtas, Minister for EU Affairs and HDP MP Mr. Ali Haydar Konca, Minister of Development and HDP MP Mr. Muslum Dogan, 30 parliamentarians, co-spokespersons of HDK (Peoples' Democratic Congress), co-chairs of DTK (Democratic Society Congress) and several NGO representatives wanted to go to Cizre in order to break the siege and isolation of the province.

In Cizre the curfew has taken place for 7 days and people in Cizre are under the siege of state security forces. There is no water, electricity or basic health services. Up to this point, 20 civilians including babies and women died in Cizre because of the police forces' attacks. The very purpose of the HDP delegation is to bring an end to the curfew and to raise the voice of the people of Cizre to the national and international community.

Our delegation's attempt to enter into the Cizre was intercepted in Mardin-Midyat yesterday, and thus they began a march through the mountains. Today is the second day of the march and they are still not allowed to enter into the province. Now, they are surrounded by police forces 28 km away from the Cizre. They are determined to enter the province and are waiting at very short distance to Cizre. Our co-chair, Mr. Demirtas's diplomatic attempts to break the siege is also continuing. Co-chair Mr. Selahattin Demirtaş' Speech on attacks against HDP and Kurds (9 September 2015)

Demirtaş: "Today will pass, they will be drowned in their own hatred and anger"

HDP Co-Chairman Demirtaş stated that the President and Prime Minister is targeting their party and "If not today, you will pay a price tomorrow".

At a press conference at the HDP Chapter in Diyarbakir, the Peoples Democratic Party (HDP) Co-Chairman Selahattin Demirtaş, made statements about current developments.

Stating that the President Recep Tayyip Erdogan and the interim Prime Minister Ahmet Davutoglu are collectively targeting the HDP, Demirtaş mentioned "more than 400 attacks staged in the past two days. We are facing a lynch campaign and an assault".

Demirtaş stated that they will travel today to show solidarity with the city of Cizre, where a curfew has been enforced for the past several days and killings have taken place.

Highlights of Mr. Demirtaş's statement:

"We want to share our views with regard to the lynchings which took place across Turkey last night and the previous evening with the support of the state and the government.

"We are going through a difficult process. It is unfortunate that our country has been returned once again to conflict in such a chaotic period, a decision to make war has returned us to the bloodbath."

"The police, the guerrillas, soldiers, and children, we are losing one each day. Regardless of the uniform they wear, we share the pain of everyone who has lost their life. We are trying to bring people together to share pain and suffering. Unfortunately we haven't been able to get any results yet. Each day people are sent in coffins."

"We are not in the decision-making process that started and escalated this war. We neither supported the war nor were the decision-makers to start it. Thank goodness, HDP has no particular decision in this regard. Decisions are being taken by the president and prime minister.

No position is a permanent but the humanity. God is our witness, we do not hug our children, we do not kiss them because there are many children left fatherless, and we are ashamed of hugging and kissing our own children.

"HDP is a political party aim to strengthen internal peace and to establish a freedom in this country, not only a Kurdish Party. Everyone has the right of a party advocating equally. Our party had achieved significant success in the elections and became a hope for the people in Turkey.

"Up until the 7 June elections, our party has been subject to 176 attacks while the ceasefire was still in progress. Those who have been attacking and burning our party chapters [buildings] over the past two days, under the pretext of fighting terrorism, we know who you are and your infamy before the elections...

"We are the ones who are being killed, whose rallies are being sabotaged ... What has been taking place in these past 2 days is not a response to terrorism ...

"Erdogan and Davutoglu have seen that coffins coming out of the mountains are not gaining them any votes. What is taking place is a kneejerk operation waged in areas where Kurds live and anyone that look like a Kurd.

'AKP and the Central Intelligence of Turkey

"We respect those who are exercising their right to protest the streets, everyone has the right to protest. In this context we do not have anything to say. We listen to all criticisms and try to understand.

Violent protests are being organized by gangs directed by the AKP and the Turkish intelligence agency. These are individuals identified by name and paid by the state. Violent attacks are carried out from a single operation command center and managed by the state.

"They are clearly telling people that if you do not give us 400 deputies, we will turn your life into a living hell. They say it bluntly. They could do this with the opportunities of the state. They have taken the state over.

'Those who commits acts of violence and crimes against the people should know that they [the AKP Government] are going down and you'll be left in the middle'

"Those who burn and vandalize, who attack and beat people up, those who burned tents of seasonal workers and lynched them, videos of your crimes are in our possession. The crimes you have committed have a statute of limitations of 20 years.

"It may not happen today, not tomorrow, but you will pay a price eventually. Shame on those who commit these crimes with the support and backing of the government; do not let yourself be taken advantage of by the government, the government is not backing you, they are no longer in power.

"We are glad that no lives have been lost, and harm was done only to property. We will sacrifice all the HDP buildings. Those who commit these crimes do not even have enough money in their pocket to purchase a cup of tea, we feel sorry for them, and we feel bad for them. They will go down while you will stay, there is no government behind you, and you will have to pay a price before the law... But if you say that you would rather sacrifice yourselves, then it is out of our hands.

"Elections are on November 1st, they are not going to retain the power; everyone must act accordingly ... Those who call themselves nationalists are already doing what they intended to do in the streets.

"I call upon the state prosecutor to do his duty"

"Erdogan and Davutoglu openly target our party. I still believe that there are honorable and proud prosecutors in this country, and I am calling on them to do their duty.

"They blame the bloodshed on us. Please ask the president and prime minister for evidence for these claims... The shameless media of this country claim that I issued the orders for the Daglica killings. How did this happen and who gave the order, we want all facts to be revealed. We are not afraid.

'Prime Minister was enjoying a soccer game in Konya'

"Currently the fallen prime minister of this country poses enthusiastically for goals in Konya as the new martyr coffins arrived from Daclica. Unfortunately he knew about the casualty in Daglica at the time he was enjoying the match, accompanied by the child of a martyr.

'HDP is a chance for Turkey'

"You are the one who is robbing this country, sending the children of the people to war for the sake of your palace. For whatever reason, however, our buildings are burned down and we are the ones who are being attacked... there must be something wrong in this, it is time to show whether or not there is true brotherhood in Turkey.

"What is western Turkey saying about these burnings and vandalism? It relies upon the discourse of inseparability. While the businesses and homes of their neighbors are burned what do those who live in western Turkey say? What do they do? HDP is a chance for Turkey.

Our Party archive is being looted and burned with the assistance of the police

"Turks and Kurds should work hand in hand today. Brotherhood can be seen at the funeral, not at the wedding. It is our wish to see this act of brotherhood; we are under great oppression and persecution.

Our party member's library is being looted and burned under police auspices.

"Only our archives room is being burned in a building with nearly 60 rooms. Hundreds of people gathered in front of the party headquarters, we informed authorities and warned them to take necessary measures to prevent any harm.

"I had to call the Governor of Ankara personally for a last ditch effort, however, I realized that he himself is also involved in the plan... After talking to an elected chair of a political party rudely and disrespectfully, he hung up the phone.

"I am calling upon that civil servants: there is no political power standing behind you. Do not rely on the AKP government, do not commit wrongs, refrain from committing wrongs. It would be a pity for you, you may be jailed for years, and they would not protect you. They will take their money and leave the country.

'If you, your home, and your business are being threatened, you have every right to defend yourself'

"It seems that the violence will continue, and may escalate. You should not yield to violence and intimidation. If someone comes to burn your home and business, according to Turkish Penal Code, you have every right to defend yourself against him according to law.

"If someone is there to burn your home, your workplace, and harm you, you must defend yourself, your home, and your business to a point and make them regret it.

"Everyone must act in accordance with their own self-defense. Our party headquarters will be repaired, you will continue your work.

"HDP is not opening chapters in the western part of the country for votes alone. We hang our party sign everywhere in the country in order to show that we want to live together; they are not just a sign, but a symbol of brotherhood.

'We fear God and no one else'

"These days will not last for long, they will soon be past. We are not afraid anyone, we fear God and no one else. Believe me, we're working with death threats. If we were afraid of everything, we would not have been able to continue our work, our lives are not more precious than the children of this country.

"We know that the stakes are enormous, we want to share the pain of this anguish together, but you must know that it will pass, believe me. I always believe that we will accomplish this together.

'On the siege of Cizre'

"Even under martial law, the most unscrupulous governments would give 1-2 hours permission to leave one's home. The curfew has been on for the past 6 days continuously. The people of Cizre are facing these hardships because of their resistance.

"There are records available, they are making announcements. They call on megaphones, saying, 'if you voted for HDP, let's see', and 'Get out to the square so we can see, if you are that brave, if anyone gets out of the houses we will shoot them', they say. There are those who have died at home, a woman who was shot by a sniper. People are not allowed to bury their dead; there is no electricity, no water, no bread.

"People eat whatever they have left at home, the babies are dehydrated.

"If I talk about Israel and Palestine, people would cry here. They would ask what Israel has done to Palestine. So, since we are all Muslims, I appeal to the conscience of us Muslims. A government that calls itself a Muslim declares a curfew. What will happen in Cizre? They must vote for the AKP. Nothing will happen, we will become even stronger. Partners of the government are calling for atrocities; they are naming individuals as targets. They are directing their mobs to attack.

The AKP will applaud if Cizre is bombarded with warplanes. Cizre is being turned into Karbala, it's been under siege for 6 days now, journalists are saying that they have not seen anything like it. This is the year 2015.

We cannot turn a blind eye to the outrage, we will depart for Cizre today. We have only one request: the curfew should be lifted. If the governor of Cizre is amicable, we are on our way for this reason. We will do our best for the situation not to turn into a violent one. We are going there in order to protect the life of citizens, soldiers and the police.

"We are calling upon all of our people everywhere to support our march to Cizre. They should not prevent us from sharing a message of common sense from Cizre.

"I hope that by the time we arrive in Cizre the curfew will be lifted. Those in Sirnak and Nisebin, whatever capability and possibility they may have, we will be in Cizre all together.

"We will not bow to Erdogan and Davutoglu's violence, which exceeds that of Israel. In the name of the God, we have come to a good conclusion, I hope.

"I would like extend my well wishes to all our people, our party workers, and those whose homes and offices are burned.

"These days will pass and our honorable standing will lead us to victory; they will be drowned in their own hatred and anger. It is impossible to remain surrounded by so many who lack conscience at the same time.

About the request for a meeting in Imrali

"One request came from KCK the and another from the President. Weapons are not going to be silenced, he said. The KCK said that we are ready to sit down at the table for negotiations. We would go even to the end of the universe for peace.

"The President and Prime Minister are moving the country towards catastrophe, and nobody says anything. What can the HDP do? Even if the HDP went to Qandil 30 times, would it matter? Even if we saw a modicum of peace we would go there. Is anyone else talking about peace other than us? They may say peace, but do they say a word about a solution?

"We will set up the tent within a few hours and complete our paperwork for the election candidates. The documents could be renewed within 3 hours. The documents are also stored digitally.

Remarks on elections

"They have distorted my statement on elections. We said that it is impossible to have elections in this environment. Perhaps we will not be allowed to enter into Cizre. We received 85 per cent of the votes there. I gave an example, how could elections be held in Cizre? How will elections be held there? That is what I ask.

"The situation in the region is not good. Bodies are not allowed to be buried; a 12-year-old girl was killed and placed into a refrigerator, a mother had to bear this agony. She had to live with her daughter's body for 2 days like that in the house. You've embarrassed this country. We're talking about those who are sending people to death each day while they sit in the palace [Erdogan and Davutoglu]. Judgment belongs to the people of Turkey. If you have a conscience you must hold these vicious people responsible and punish them. We do not share a view that elections cannot be held.

About the attacks on the Media

"They are attacking Hurriyet Newspaper, and Dicle News Agency as well, and they are also attacking KOZA holding. Your news articles and commentaries are being blocked, fortunately; we see your news and articles on social media now, do not worry.

"The palace [Erdogan] thinks that you bury your head in the sand, however the world sees the rest of you remains above ground. We stand by all of you, we are in solidarity with all of you.

About Meeting with CHP Leader Mr. Kilicdaroglu

The situation is getting worse in the country. We would welcome meeting anytime and day. Our door is open for peace always. Time and time again we form contacts with the CHP.

"We see an effort by the CHP and we do not undermine their effort. They conduct investigations and research in the region, preparing reports, but it is not enough. We would gladly meet with Mr. Kilicdaroglu in the coming days if it is requested. "

URGENT CALL FOR INTERNATIONAL ACTION!

Turkey is increasingly drifting into a civil war. Politics of violence have escalated after the general elections of June 7 under the Justice and Development (AKP) provisional government. At the moment, the peace process between the PKK and Turkish state has come to a halt and war has started again. In this past month alone, severe clashes took place in many Kurdish cities such as Silopi, Lice, Şemdinli, Silvan, Yüksekova and Cizre, where state forces have targeted the civilian population. Tens of civilians, guerrillas and members of state security forces have died during the ensuing clashes. The AKP interim government has not been attacking ISIS, as it claims to be doing. Instead, it has since July 24 targeted the Qandil mountains located in the Kurdistan Regional Government's territory, as well as Kurdish populations, civilians, women, and pro-democracy and opposition movements all across Turkey.

The Turkish state and provisional AKP government are implementing a vast range of oppressive measures including, but not limited to, barring access to and from Kurdish cities in which they launched military operations, cutting off all access to phone and internet lines, pressuring the media and obstructing the activities of members of the press and observers in order to hide the truth behind events on the ground, all in an attempt to prevent news from reaching national and international public attention. A curfew has been in place in the province of Cizre for the 9 days where 21 civilians have been killed. The province has been still under siege by armed forces for days, causing to a serious shortage of food, water and basic healthcare services. The treatment of the wounded and burial of those who have been killed by state security forces has been significantly prevented. Many elected members of the National Assembly and civil society organizations have voiced grave fears about the murder of civilian populations taking place in Cizre.

In this environment of great violence, AKP spokespeople and the pro-AKP mass media have also targeted the People's Democracy Party (HDP), who had gained the vast support of pro-democracy Kurds and populations in the last parliamentary elections. Almost every day, our party officials and our Co-Chairs in particular are being singled-out to incite hatred among the "nationalist and patriotic" segments of Turkey. AKP officials have made many public statements akin to war calls against the HDP. As a direct result of this violent discourse, many of our buildings in several cities have been attacked by mobs of people associated with known racist and fascist factions. These acts of violence have ultimately culminated in an attack on our Ankara headquarters during which our building was set on fire and our party archives and records were specifically targeted. No one was injured in the attack but our HQ is now heavily damaged and unavailable for use. As of today, over 128 party buildings across Turkey have been assaulted by similar mobs. It should particularly be noted that neither the police, nor other security forces made any significant attempts to prevent the attacks or control the mobs.

We once again want to emphasize that the HDP has consistently condemned violence and the politics of war. As the HDP, we have never taken a decision-making role in the current conflict. On the contrary, we have been actively trying to push both the PKK and the Turkish state to put down their arms. It should, therefore, be noted that it is the AKP that is pressing for the politics of war and by extension implementing vast anti-democratic measures all over the country.

In light of current developments, we call on the entire international community, civil society organizations, and the international media for solidarity and support to bring about an immediate ceasefire and the establishment of peace talks. Our call is also one for urgent action against increasing state violence, the violation of human rights and anti-democratic practices and measures in Kurdish cities as well as the cities in the western parts of the country. We now need the support of the international public more than ever in order to achieve the realization of a lasting peace in the Middle East, Turkey and Kurdistan. In this context we invite all our friends, political parties, associations, networks, civil society organizations and all peace-loving forces to act in solidarity with us. We call on all democratic international institutions, movements and actors to take concrete steps against the Turkish state's violent, repressive and anti-democratic measures against its own people and citizens.
